

March 4, 2009

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter to offer my highest recommendation for Gaffney Events, and specifically, Tricia Gaffney. As a medical device executive with previous experience at Boston Scientific, ev3, St. Jude Medical, and Pathway Medical, to name a few, I have had the privilege of working with Tricia and her company for the past 14 years and consider myself a very satisfied customer.

Corporate events, trade shows and overall meeting management is a very important investment area for many companies, and the image created with customers and employees through these events cannot be underestimated. In my experience, Tricia has been truly outstanding, both as an employee, and later as an independent contractor, in organizing and managing these various events. Regardless of how big or small the specific event might be, and what varied challenges the venue might present, Tricia always delivers a very high level of professionalism and organizational expertise. Additionally, Tricia approaches her role in these events as a true business partner and not as a vendor. She assists with planning, she gets to know the people, she understands what the tone and feel need to be, and she handles all of the little things without anyone even realizing it. Lastly, she provides all of this service at a very reasonable value.

Based upon my experience with Tricia, I cannot recommend her highly enough and I am absolutely confident that anyone who does business with Tricia will be a satisfied customer.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Paul Buckman". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letters of each word being capitalized and prominent.

Paul Buckman
President & CEO
Pathway Medical Technologies, Inc.